ERIE ENTERS HONESDALE.

Trains Run to the New Station in the Maple City.

Special to the Scranton Tribune Honesdale, Oct. 1 .- What is known as the Honesdale branch of the Eric railroad was completed in July, 1868, but, strange to say, the first passenger train on the above branch reached Honesdale today. All of these intervening years, at New York and other points, the Erie company has sold tickets to Honesdale and landed the passengers at a station one mile out from Honesdale. Passengers were obliged to finish the journey by stage or on foot at their own expense, but happily for Honesdale and the traveling public, the days of the omnibus are over, and what has so anxiously been looked for has arrived and there is rejoicing in Honesdale today. The following announcement was circulated in Honesdale on Saturday by the Erie com-

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Commencing Monday, Oct. 1, 1900, passenger trains of the Eric railroad will arrive at and depart from the new station of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, Honesdale.

The present station of the Eric railroad will be designated on time tables thereafter as East Honesdale.

D. I. Roberts. General Passenger Agent, New York, Sept. 27, 1990.

This morning a large crowd assembled at the Delaware and Hudson station to witness the departure of the first train at 8.40, which was in charge of the veteran engineer. Benjamin | ton, were in town on Saturday com-Gardner, and Conductor Knapp. A pleting arrangements for the erection large number went to East Honesdale and as far as Hawley by this train for the purpose of lighting streets, busand returned by the first incoming train, which reached here at 10.37 a. m. This train was in charge of Conductor J. G. Hornbeck and Engineer W. B. J. The Maple City band and about 500 men, women and children were at the station to welcome the first Erie train to reach Honesdale, and a royal welcome it was. The railroads entering Honesdale now land all passengers in the heart of Maple City, and | tered as "Mr. Veeder, Newark, N. J.," all the passenger business will be conducted at one station. The celebration of the event will be continued this peared to be full of business. TUNKHANNOCK.

Tunkhannock, Oct. 1 .- With the aproach of the October term of the courts of quarter sessions and of common pleas, legal matters begin to be more lively. The quarter sessions open on Monday, October 8, and the most important case set down for trial at that time is the homicide case in which James Terry, of Falls township, is the defendant. The crime for which Terry will be tried was the murder of his brother at White's Ferry, some three months ago. The killing was done while both men were more or less under the influence of liquor and consequently quarrelsome. District Attorney Kinner will be assisted in the prosecution by Asa S. Keeler, esq., and the defendant will be represented by James W. Piatt. The trial will occupy most of the week. The court house here is being wired or electric lights this wee ings & Sons having the contract. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years decters pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a gonstitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufacturably F. J.
